

What the AEP Award Can Do for You?
By
John P. Coggins, CPPO, C.P.M.

Testimonials from purchasing professionals throughout the United States attest to the AEP award's benefits:

"The AEP application process has challenged and motivated us to stay on the leading edge of purchasing related technology." Cheryl Turney, C.P.M., Purchasing Manager, City of College Station, TX

"The AEP criteria are an excellent report card on the performance of an organization's procurement function." Monroe Warren, C.P.M., Purchasing Director, City of Scottsdale, AZ

"The AEP is a professional validation of the effort that the Purchasing Staff has done to improve the procurement function at CSULB." Charles Hughes, Director of Purchasing & Support Services, California State University, Long Beach

Besides the satisfaction in knowing that your organization is following the most current and best business practices in the profession, there are many other intangible benefits from obtaining the award. These benefits include:

- Recognition by your agency
- Recognition by your peers
- Nationwide promotion of your agency

You also receive an impressive granite trophy that can be prominently displayed in your office or a public reception area.

Don't delay! The deadline for submittal of the AEP application is May 29, 2009.
